THE PASTOR'S PAGE

As we have spent time in Numbers, I have related the caricature of the book as nothing more than 36 chapters of people complaining about their circumstances and rebelling against God's will for them. In chapters 13-14, the scripture for our current sermon series, we see those traits laid bare. Their complaints, their rebellion, and their actions are easily relatable to our current times and even to ourselves at times.

Thankfully, the story of the Israelites in Numbers doesn't end with the consequences of their disobedience. In the face of their open rebellion against God and His faithful followers, we still find God standing firm and offering His redemptive grace and peace. He offers this gift to the most obstinate from His enduring faithfulness and boundless love.

In these pages, I have shared with you how I conclude my correspondence most often with "Grace and peace." It is a habit I picked up from the apostle Paul. Paul was obsessed with grace—

God's freely given love that expects nothing in return. Every one of Paul's thirteen letters mentions grace in the opening and closing. He reminded people that all things flow from the Father above.

Grace always comes first for Paul. He then added peace, the common Jewish greeting in his time. He let people know that he was concerned about them. The purpose of his letters was to instruct people to follow the Lord faithfully in all things. To accomplish that, you have to start with the Lord's will, so it was always "grace and peace" and not the other way around. Following the Lord first and foremost would lead to a proper understanding and execution of God's plan for His people. Paul knew that and emphasized it in his ministry.

There is much more one can glean from a study of that simple phrase "grace and peace." You may have noted that I am captivated by that phrase, Paul's use of it, and the impact it has on us as Christians. One insight I found recently is that Paul may have used that phrase as a bit of shorthand for the priestly blessing that is found in the book of Numbers. As I noted in last month's newsletter, that blessing is important to me as well. I use it to bless my children at their bedtime, and I pray it over them constantly.

That blessing had been used for over a thousand years as the priests of Israel would bless the people by asking the Lord to "make His face shine" upon them, "be gracious" unto them, "turn His face" toward them, and "give peace" to them. Paul seems to have Christianized that blessing in his phrase "grace and peace." Hopefully, it set people's hearts to searching for the deeper meaning behind it as found in its original setting in Numbers 6:24-26.

That priestly blessing that was prayed over Aaron and his children as they were ordained as the first priests would be passed down through the generations. They were called out of the people for a particular and special service. They were to be empowered by God's presence in their lives. It was the Lord's grace and peace that would enable them to fulfill the calling upon their lives.

While much of the book of Numbers dwells on the faithlessness of the people in general, we still see God's faithfulness. He desires to bless His people with grace and peace. Even when they do not believe in Him (Numbers 14:11), God relents from His wrath and spares people so they may repent. His grace and peace outweigh the demands of justice.

After all, is that not the Gospel message? God sees a corrupt world that has fallen into sin. He responds by giving His only begotten Son to the world knowing that He will be despised and forsaken. Not only that, but the Son submits and allows Himself to be given over to humiliation and death (Matthew 20:17-19). God does all that, so that we could be free from the bonds of sin and death.

In the book of Numbers, God's grace and peace precedes much of the people's disobedience. God's blessings do not rely on our performance or faithfulness. They are derived from God's unfailing love. [By the way, "unfailing love" is another fascinating word study in the Bible.] Our God is loving and generous with that love. He seeks to bless.

Again, we see that in Numbers 13-14. God is calling His people to faithfully live out the calling He has placed upon their lives. Instead of the promise being enough, the people rebelled. Even though they had received God's provision previously, they doubted that He would do it once again. But we know that God is faithful. In scripture, we see the Israelites enter the Promised Land and thrive there...when they were faithful, which is a story for another time.

God is calling us to respond in faith in this generation. Sometimes, we may feel like Moses or Caleb or Joshua as we try to speak to people who do not want to hear or to lead God's way when people want to follow their own fickle hearts. It can seem like a daunting task just to remain true in a world that has traded the truth of God for a lie.

faithful followers.

May we hold unswervingly to the faith we have. May we step out in faith as we share the Good News with one another in prayer, study and worship. May we faithfully serve the Lord as we live out our calling to minister to our world, our community, and our neighbors.

As we do these things, may we do them all simply as acts that bring glory to God. May we follow wherever the Holy Spirit will lead. May we be driven by nothing else but faith. May the grace and peace of our heavenly Father be all the reward that we will ever need.

May the grace and peace be the place where we reside; may they be our Promised Land.

With grace and peace,

Pastor Randall

Preaching Series

In October, we will conclude our journey through Numbers 13-14. While the focus of these chapters is on the faithlessness of the majority, we see how the faithfulness of the few (the remnant) has a powerful impact.

At the beginning of the month, we will witness Moses going toe-to-toe with God. After God tells Moses that He is done with the people's open rebellion, He offers to start anew with Moses as a new Abraham, the father of a new chosen people. Instead of accepting this offer, Moses intercedes on behalf of the people.

Even though the people still rebel, we see the emergence of Caleb and Joshua as faithful leaders. They are men who will stand with God no matter the cost and no matter how many others may oppose them. The series will conclude with a sermon on God's faithfulness to His promises.

As the month comes to a close, we will lean on our heavenly Father's faithfulness as we remember those who have gone on before us. We are assured that those who are in Christ will be gathered into His eternal rest for His people.

In the previous pages, I referenced the priestly blessing in Numbers 6:24-26. God seeks to pour out His grace and peace upon His people. We see that in our lives, and we see it fulfilled when He calls His saints home.

May we be found faithful to God's calling upon our lives in this generation that we may stand with Him in eternity.

October in the 1920s meant two things to the members of St. John's, The Rally and The Canvass. The Rally was the celebration of and graduation ceremony for the Church School. The Canvass was the annual drive for pledges and tithes.

1925 Rally

"Rally Day came and went, principally "came" and principally "went". Sure it looked dreary outside and it rained too, and to some that is an absolute and sufficient reason why everything else should not be made dreary and drowned with a rain of indifference. But in spite of all these handicaps there were some 306 present according to the report published in the Newspaper. And sure, somebody's goin' to say Whatcha kickin' for? We will admit, for no reason at all, we were happy to these 306 present and rejoice over the Inspiration they gave us, and for the fine songs the little Beginners sang, and for the happy smiling faces of the 306 present and for the promotion exercises."

1926 Rally

"our attendance at Rally Day totaled 282. Over 400 invitations had been sent out, and we are wondering where were the other 118. It seems strange that some folks absolutely cannot be roused out of their indifference and lethargy no matter how hard others try to help them. and the poor blinded ones lack all sense of anything wrong. As an example to everyone we would hold up before all the record of three of our honor students: Carlos Wolf, Miss Emma Scheidemantel and Peter Grauel, who did not miss a Sunday during the past year. Such folks put inspiration into our work, and we compliment them most heartily."

1926 Canvass

"The annual congregational canvass will be made by the members of the Church Council within the next few weeks. We give this advance notice that everyone may be prepared to state with further argument what is to be his or her pledge toward the Church and the Synodical Benevolence for the coming year. Giving is by far more a part of one's Christianity than many realize, Yes, we may say that Christianity is the religion of giving. God gave the best he had, His only begotten Son, that you might enjoy the best you have in life. And the best you have in your life is Jesus Christ and Christianity. Christianity teaches that possession and ownership are not the same thing. We may possess a thing but do NOT OWN IT, rather we OWE IT to God. We are His stewards, and as His stewards we are to be not only honorable but honoring. God says, "Honor the Lord with they substance" for "those who honor Me, I will honor". You employ the honor system in business, why not in Church affairs" Good business methods are as important in the Church as in a bank.No matter how you may look at your giving, to pay Church dues... is the most honorable thing you can do, if you consider yourself any kind of a Christian at all and have a streak of honor in you.Why always expect to be carried along by other in the matter of your Church obligation? Be prepared to sign up for an honorable amount."

It is obvious that in those days our Sunday School had significant attendance and participation. Also, Pastor Kuenzler took supporting the Church very seriously and was frustrated with a portion of the Congregation. Is there a reason why we cannot make the same commitments today to expanding our Sunday School attendance or supporting our Church? Sure, we live in broken times, but just look at what it took back then. Let's do what we can to resurrect these institutions that are critical to our survival as a church.

Officer Reports

Secretary's Report - The July Report was Motioned for Approval and seconded. Accepted by unanimous vote.

REPORTS

1) Financial Report—Jerry Pfister

- Kay Rush and Jerry Pfister discussed the July results stating that giving in the month was significantly below last year. We hope for a rebound in August. The expenditures continue to be under control and we do have a chance of losing less than the planned loss should the giving trend pick up.
- We discussed the ending balance sheet which reflects the addition of the additional funds from the Estate of Marilyn Klingler. Our balance sheet remains strong.
- Motion to accept Financial reports, seconded, and passed by unanimous vote.

2) Christian Education—Michele Sherman—Report Submitted

3) Women's Ministry—Kay Rush

- Kay Rush reported that the annual Woman's Celebration would be held on November 16th. The proceeds from the event will go to "Not by Choice".
- Operation Christmas Child box program is being headed up by Toni Pfister. Teresa Broseke came up with the idea for a fellowship event inviting the Women of the church to join in making pillow cases for the boxes. This will happen on September 19th in the Fellowship Hall
- Steve Christopher will accept the check from the Church Social from Anna Lawarre and Toni Pfister.

4) Worship, Arts & Music—LeVern Weaver

- At the last meeting, Toni Pfister was given the go ahead to resume the Children's Choir. She will contact Dave Beazley to coordinate start date and monthly schedule.

5) Personnel Committee—Hal Elsasser

- Michele Sherman has formally resigned her position as Family Minister at St. John's to spend more time with her family. She stated she would stay on until someone else is found to run the program and help in the transition. She did mention her family does prefer a contemporary service that is no longer available on a regular basis.
- Discussion was brought up that we should be looking for someone who can handle the family ministry and potentially be an Assistant or Associate Pastor with the talents necessary to run a contemporary service. Copies of the appropriate job descriptions are to be given to Council members. Pastor Randall stated that we would probably have to build a description around the abilities of the individual that we find.

Pastoral Relations- Anna LaWarre—Anna is going to set up a meeting

7) Trustees (Jerry Pfister, LeVern Weaver, Greg Martin)

- AV Report Submitted
- (Van): LeVern stated the van was either in need of a new battery or alternator. He will resolve as soon as possible.
- (Farm): Greg said crops looked good, nothing else to report.
- Greg also said he was going to follow up on the plexiglass replacement with C&Y.
- Jerry said the HVAC program is close to conclusion and includes a blue tooth control program that will require training and monitoring.

8) Missions, Evangelism

- Anna said that they plan an open meeting September 12th to discuss any issues with the 2024 proposed program.

9) Pastor's Report - Pastor Randall report submitted

Old Business: None

New Business: Ways to help the Pastor

- We need to begin the process of redefining the Council as outlined in the Pastor's report. The suggestion was made to ask Richard Katterjohn to join Council as a Trustee. Jerry Pfister would then move to Elder and begin work on expanding Church communications. This was supported and Jerry was to ask Richard and also contact Janie Risner about working on the communications along with Richard.

Next Meeting: September 14 at 6 pm

Adjournment – Motion and seconded to adjourn, Council Vote, motion carried. Lord's Prayer
